Meagan,

Thanks very much for your kind e-mail. As you likely already know, Park Strategies, LLC and I are registered with the U.S. Department of Justice, under the Foreign Agents Registration Act, as agents on behalf of our client, the Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office (TECRO) in the United States.

I look forward meeting you on my next trip to Washington, D.C. However, in addition, please also note that my original meeting request was not for myself to meet with Senator Begich, but rather for Taiwan Ambassador Jason Yuan to call on Senator Begich at the senator's convenience. Either way, I very much look forward to meeting you on my next D.C. trip. But please also let me know if Senator Begich might ever be available for Ambassador Yuan, thanks in advance.

Best wishes,
Sean King

Dear Nicole:

You and I spoke in March regarding Senator Kaufman's attendance at the March 26th reception in honor of the 30th anniversary of the Taiwan Relations Act. As you know, Park Strategies, LLC and I are registered with the U.S. Department of Justice, under the Foreign Agents Registration Act, as agents on behalf of our client, the Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office (TECRO) in the United States. I think Senator Kaufman ended up stopping by the reception after all. Thanks for whatever you did to make that possible. I'm writing you today on two new Taiwan matters of interest.

1.) May 20th is the one-year anniversary of Taiwan President Ma Ying-jeou's inauguration. We're asking that Senator Kaufman kindly consider making an insertion for the Record in honor of the occasion, or sending President Ma a congratulatory letter. I've included here a few suggested DRAFT samples for your review.

2.) In a few weeks, President Ma will twice transit on the West Coast, en route to and from Central America. We're also asking that Senator Kaufman kindly consider having a brief telephone conversation with President Ma during any one of his transit stopovers. Please see below the times that President Ma will be available for telephone calls.

Mr. President, I rise today to express my support of Taiwan President Ma Ying-jeou's policies, and in acknowledging his successes, since taking office on May 20th, 2008.

After winning the election on March 22nd, 2008, President Ma has used his public mandate to reach out to mainland Chinese leaders to cultivate an environment of reduced tension across the Taiwan Strait. A concrete result from this new approach is the realization of Taiwan's participation in the 62nd World Health Assembly (WHA). In an age when deadly infectious diseases – like the recent H1N1 Flu strain, or Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS) in 2003 – can cross borders in seconds, Taiwan's observer status in WHA will surely benefit not only people in Taiwan, but also the whole world in its fight against deadly pandemics.

On the first anniversary of President Ma Ying-jeou's inauguration, I want to applaud him and further encourage Taiwan's rapprochement with mainland China, thereby bettering the health and lives of ordinary Taiwanese. The United States shall continue to stand by Taiwan, and while also pushing for its expanded international space.

Dear President Ma,

Congratulations on completing your first year as President of the Republic of China (Taiwan).

We have been pleased to note several positive developments for Taiwan over the last year, including the World Health Organization's acceptance of Taiwan as an observer at the World Health Assembly. This is a significant step forward for Taiwan's international standing, and for the health of the people of the East-Asian and Pacific region.

We are also pleased to note the reduction of tensions in the region. We are pleased that Taiwan values stability in its neighborhood and has taken steps to reduce the likelihood of conflict in the coming years in order to preserve freedom in Taiwan.

Equally important, by requesting the acquisition of U.S. defensive systems, you have continued Taiwan's longstanding security alliance with the United States. As guaranteed by the Taiwan Relations Act - and confirmed by the U.S. House of Representatives by passage of H.Con.Res.55 on March 24, 2009 - the relationship between the United States and Taiwan is critical to the peace and prosperity of the region.

As you begin your second year in office, we look forward to continuing to work with you toward our common goal of a peaceful, prosperous and strong Taiwan.

Sean-- Senator Snowe has decided to sign the letter! I've let Inhofe and Johnson's offices know.

Best,

Mr. President, I rise today to express my support of Taiwan President Ma Ying-jeou's policies, and in acknowledging his successes, since taking office on May 20th, 2008.

After winning the election on March 22nd, 2008, President Ma has used his public mandate to reach out to mainland Chinese leaders to cultivate an environment of reduced tension across the Taiwan Strait. The United States shall continue to stand by Taiwan, and while also pushing for its expanded international space.

Congressional Record Statement Example:

“World Health Organization Observer Status –V ROC Health Initiative”

TAIWAN GRANTED OBSERVER STATUS ON

WORLD HEALTH ORGANIZATION’S SUPREME GOVERNING BODY

Mr. President, I would like to put on record my congratulations to Taiwan on its being granted Observer Status for the 62nd World Health Assembly. This is a long awaited moment. Taiwan has not participated in a formal meeting with the United Nations-related body since 1971. This recognition is a milestone for Taiwan and the rest of the world in marking true progress in human rights, human security and human health.

Taiwan has been increasingly recognized for both the progress it’s made in improving the health of its own citizens, as well as being a significant benefactor of global health initiatives. The Taiwan International Health Action (Taiwan IHA) was formed to help fill the needs of communities around the world by distributing aid far beyond Taiwan’s borders.

Taiwan’s IHA is a working example of an organization efficiently using public and private funds to take on health issues, not only in Taiwan, but around the world. Taiwan is active in the global fight against AIDS in Africa, and is also on the front lines of the fight against 21st century health challenges like SARS, avian flu and H1N1 swine flu. Taiwan’s Buddhist Compassion Relief Tzu Chi Foundation, a UN-recognized non-governmental organization (NGO), has conducted aid work in 61 countries on five continents.

As we are all becoming more aware each day, deadly diseases do not stop at national borders. Bringing Taiwan into the global health community ensures we are not at an unacceptable risk from a lack of information on combating diseases on a global scale.

Dear President Ma,

Congratulations on completing your first year as President of the Republic of China (Taiwan).

We have been pleased to note several positive developments for Taiwan over the last year, including the World Health Organization's acceptance of Taiwan as an observer at the World Health Assembly. Dear Will,

It was nice speaking with you, albeit briefly, the other day. Today is Taiwan President Ma's one-year anniversary in office. Hence the commemoration of that milestone is no longer of primary concern.

However, President Ma would still very much like to have a 5-10min phone conversation with Senator Specter when he transits via LAX next Tuesday, May 27th. As you know, Park Strategies, LLC and I are registered with the U.S. Department of Justice, under the Foreign Agents Registration Act, as agents on behalf of our client, the Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office (TECRO) in the United States.

Please see below the time slots that are still available for calls with President Ma. Please let me know if Senator Specter might be available for a call at any of these times, thanks so much in advance.

Chris,

In March, I spoke with your colleague, Will Wagner, regarding a Taiwan joint letter to President Obama that Senator Specter agreed to sign. I wanted to send Will this additional e-mail below, but I don't have his exact e-mail address. Can you please forward it to him? Thanks so much.

Best wishes,

Thanks again for all your help in securing Senator Specter's signature for the March 23rd joint letter to President Obama, asking him to join Senator Specter and his colleagues in recognizing the 30th anniversary of the Taiwan Relations Act (TRA), while reaffirming U.S. support for Taiwan. Senator Specter's signature made a big difference, thanks again.

I'm writing you today on two new Taiwan matters of interest.

1.) May 20th is the one-year anniversary of Taiwan President Ma Ying-jeou's inauguration. We're asking that Senator Specter kindly consider making an insertion for the Record in honor of the occasion, or sending President Ma a congratulatory letter. I've attached a few suggested DRAFT samples for your review.

2.) In a few weeks, President Ma will twice transit on the West Coast, en route to and from Central America. We're also asking that Senator Specter kindly consider having a brief telephone conversation with President Ma during any one of his transit stopovers. Please see below the times that President Ma will be available for telephone calls.

Mr. President, I rise today to express my support of Taiwan President Ma Ying-jeou's policies, and in acknowledging his successes, since taking office on May 20th, 2008.

After winning the election on March 22nd, 2008, President Ma has used his public mandate to reach out to mainland Chinese leaders to cultivate an environment of reduced tension across the Taiwan Strait. A concrete result from this new approach is the realization of Taiwan's participation in the 62nd World Health Assembly (WHA). In an age when deadly infectious diseases – like the recent H1N1 Flu strain, or Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS) in 2003 – can cross borders in seconds, Taiwan's observer status in WHA will surely benefit not only people in Taiwan, but also the whole world in its fight against deadly pandemics.

On the first anniversary of President Ma Ying-jeou's inauguration, I want to applaud him and further encourage Taiwan's rapprochement with mainland China, thereby bettering the health and lives of ordinary Taiwanese. The United States shall continue to stand by Taiwan, and while also pushing for its expanded international space.

WORLD HEALTH ORGANIZATION'S SUPREME GOVERNING BODY

Mr. President, I would like to put on record my congratulations to Taiwan on its being granted Observer Status for the 62nd World Health Assembly. This is a long awaited moment. Taiwan has not participated in a formal meeting with the United Nations-related body since 1971. This recognition is a milestone for Taiwan and the rest of the world in marking true progress in human rights, human security and human health.

Taiwan has been increasingly recognized for both the progress it's made in improving the health of its own citizens, as well as being a significant benefactor of global health initiatives. The Taiwan International Health Action (Taiwan IHA) was formed to help fill the needs of communities around the world by distributing aid far beyond Taiwan's borders.

Taiwan's IHA is a working example of an organization efficiently using public and private funds to take on health issues, not only in Taiwan, but around the world. Taiwan is active in the global fight against AIDS in Africa, and is also on the front lines of the fight against 21st century health challenges like SARS, avian flu and H1N1 swine flu. Taiwan's Buddhist Compassion Relief Tzu Chi Foundation, a UN-recognized non-governmental organization (NGO), has conducted aid work in 61 countries on five continents.

As we are all becoming more aware each day, deadly diseases do not stop at national borders. Bringing Taiwan into the global health community ensures we are not at an

Dear President Ma,

Congratulations on completing your first year as President of the Republic of China (Taiwan).

We have been pleased to note several positive developments for Taiwan over the last year, including the World Health Organization's acceptance of Taiwan as an observer at the World Health Assembly. This is a significant step forward for Taiwan's international standing, and for the health of the people of the East-Asian and Pacific region.

We are also pleased to note the reduction of tensions in the region. We are pleased that Taiwan values stability in its neighborhood and has taken steps to reduce the likelihood of conflict in the coming years in order to preserve freedom in Taiwan.

Equally important, by requesting the acquisition of U.S. defensive systems, you have continued Taiwan's longstanding security alliance with the United States. As guaranteed by the Taiwan Relations Act - and confirmed by the U.S. House of Representatives by passage of H.Con.Res.55 on March 24, 2009 - the relationship between the United States and Taiwan is critical to the peace and prosperity of the region.

As you begin your second year in office, we look forward to continuing to work with you toward our common goal of a peaceful, prosperous and strong Taiwan.
